Disclosure Statement for

Accelerated Benefit Payment Rider

Basic Rider Form 2127

AAA2127D

GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE ACCELERATED BENEFIT

The Accelerated Benefit Payment Rider allows the Owner of the Policy to which the Rider is attached to receive an accelerated benefit following a Qualifying Event. A Qualifying Event is defined as a non-correctable medical condition of the Insured that, with reasonable medical certainty, will result in the death of the Insured in 12 months or less. The Company must receive a physician's written statement certifying the medical condition and the Insured's life expectancy.

The Owner may make only one request for an accelerated benefit payment. The Owner may request an accelerated payment of up to 50% of the death benefit amount after deducting all outstanding Policy loans. The minimum accelerated benefit the Company will pay is $10,000 and the maximum benefit is $250,000. The accelerated benefit will be paid only as a lump sum.

Request for an accelerated benefit payment must be in writing and the Company must receive the request while the Policy is in force (other than as extended term or paid-up insurance, if available). The Company must receive written approval by any irrevocable beneficiary under the Policy and a full release of any assignment of the Policy as collateral.

TAX CONSEQUENCES OF RECEIVING AN ACCELERATED BENEFIT PAYMENT

Depending on a number of factors, an accelerated benefit payment may be considered taxable income. The Owner should seek assistance from a qualified tax advisor before requesting an accelerated benefit.

COSTS OF THE ACCELERATED BENEFIT PAYMENT

There is no premium or cost of insurance for the Rider. However, the Company will add an administrative fee not exceeding $250 to the accelerated benefit amount at the time of payment. The Company will charge interest on the accelerated benefit payment. Interest will accrue at the policy loan interest rate stated in the Policy on the portion of the benefit amount equal to the difference between the loan value and any and all outstanding policy loans. For the portion of the benefit amount that exceeds this difference, interest will accrue at a rate no more than the greater of: (a) the current yield on a 90-day treasury bill; or (b) the current maximum adjustable policy loan interest rated allowed by law.

EFFECT OF ACCELERATED BENEFIT PAYMENT

The accelerated benefit payment, the administrative fee and any accrued interest will be a lien against the Policy. The total amount of the lien and all policy loans outstanding will reduce the amount otherwise available under the Policy's: (1) death benefit; (2) cash value; and (3) accumulation values for full or partial surrenders and future policy loans. The Rider provides that the Company will waive all monthly deductions under the Policy for up to 12 months immediately following the payment of an accelerated benefit. If the Insured is living following the twelfth month, the waiver provided by the Rider will no longer apply and monthly deductions will resume. Except as stated in the waiver provision of the Rider, Policy and rider monthly deductions will remain payable and will not be reduced or eliminated as a result of an accelerated benefit payment. Any accidental death benefit provision of the Policy or any other rider attached to it will not be affected by the payment of an accelerated benefit payment.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I, the undersigned Proposed Insured (and Policy Owner, if other than the Proposed Insured), acknowledge that I have read and received this Disclosure Statement for Accelerated Benefit Payment Rider at the time of application for the Policy and Rider.

A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records).

Here is a summary of your major rights under the FCRA. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore or write to: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street N.W., Washington, DC 20552.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses a credit report or another type of consumer report to deny your application for credit, insurance, or employment – or to take another adverse action against you – must tell you, and must give you the name, address, and phone number of the agency that provided the information.
- You have the right to know what is in your file. You may request and obtain all the information about you in the files of a consumer reporting agency (your "file disclosure"). You will be required to provide proper identification, which may include your Social Security number. In many cases, the disclosure will be free. You are entitled to a free file disclosure if:
  - a person has taken adverse action against you because of information in your credit report;
  - you are the victim of identity theft and place a fraud alert in your file;
  - your file contains inaccurate information as a result of fraud;
  - you are on public assistance;
  - you are unemployed but expect to apply for employment within 60 days.

  In addition, all consumers are entitled to one free disclosure every 12 months upon request from each nationwide credit bureau and from nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for additional information.
- You have the right to ask for a credit score. Credit scores are numerical summaries of your credit-worthiness based on information from credit bureaus. You may request a credit score from consumer reporting agencies that create scores or distribute scores used in residential real property loans, but you will have to pay for it. In some mortgage transactions, you will receive credit score information for free from the mortgage lender.
- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. If you identify information in your file that is incomplete or inaccurate, and report it to the consumer reporting agency, the agency must investigate unless your dispute is frivolous. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for an explanation of dispute procedures.
- Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. Inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information must be removed or corrected, usually within 30 days. However, a consumer reporting agency may continue to report information it has verified as accurate.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information. In most cases, a consumer reporting agency may not report negative information that is more than seven years old, or bankruptcies that are more than 10 years old.
- Access to your file is limited. A consumer reporting agency may provide information about you only to people with a valid need – usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business. The FCRA specifies those with a valid need for access.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers. A consumer reporting agency may not give out information about you to your employer, or a potential employer, without your written consent given to the employer. Written consent generally is not required in the trucking industry. For more information, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.
- You many limit "prescreened" offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report. Unsolicited "prescreened" offers for credit and insurance must include a toll-free phone number you can call if you choose to remove your name and address from the lists these offers are based on. You may opt out with the nationwide credit bureaus at 1-888-5-OPTOUT (1- 888-567-8688).
- You may seek damages from violators. If a consumer reporting agency, or, in some cases, a user of consumer reports or a furnisher of information to a consumer reporting agency violates the FCRA, you may be able to sue in state or federal court.
- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights. For more information, visit www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

States may enforce the FCRA, and many states have their own consumer reporting laws. In some cases, you may have more rights under state law. For more information, contact your state or local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General. For information about your federal rights, contact:
